TRUCE VIOLATED, BOTH SIDES SAY; BATTLES HALTED

Arabs and Jews Charge
Fighting After Deadline;
Major Engagements Stop

CAIRO, Egypt, June 11 (AP)—Palestine's truce brought to a spluttering stop two major battles and several other actions but produced charges of violations from both sides in its first day.

The Syrian chieftain here announced he had received instructions to protest against a second post-truce air attack on Damascus by Jewish planes at 6 p. m. tonight, and declared his country would not be bound by the truce if the violations continued.

In Tel Aviv, the chief of operations of the Jewish high command said tonight that Arab forces had broken the truce on the northern central and southern fronts of Palestine. He warned that the army of Israel might yet strike back against any ground thus gained.

TO THIS WARNING the Jewish chief of operations added another: "The Damascus raid has shown that no Arab capital is beyond the range of our air force. No technical hindrance stands in our way if we are ordered to do the same again to two already bombed Arab capitals—or three."

Count Folke Bernadotte, the truce negotiator, announced he had ordered U. N. observers to investigate and report as quickly as possible on complaints alleging four separate violations by Jews.

Up to almost the last minute Jews and Arabs fought for major decisions on the Isdud front south of Tel Aviv, and around Latrun for control of the vital Jerusalem highway, dispatches from the fronts said today.

JEWISH AIRMEN got a lick at an Arab capital attacking Damascus in the last hours before the cease-fire went into effect at 2 a. m. Pottstown time.

Then nearly six hours after cease-fire orders were issued on all fronts, authoritative Trans-Jordan sources declared the Jews were continuing to attack the Syrians east of Mishmar Hagardim, south of Lake Hula in Northern Palestine, which the Syrians claimed to have occupied in a last-hour offensive yesterday.

An official Trans-Jordan source declared the Jews also broke the truce five hours after (Continued on Page Eleven)

Printers Donate $28 To Fresh Air Fund

Two more Pottstown youngsters were assured a week of fun at the Pottstown Community camp, Earlville, as the result of a contribution yesterday of $28 from the Pottstown Typographical Union, Local 715.

The union members were among the employees in The Mercury's mechanical department who also donated $21.50 to the fund on June 2. The fund now stands at $1600.56, enough to send 114 underprivileged boys and girls, between the ages of eight and 16, to the country Summer camp for one week.

There are other kids in town, too, whose parents will be unable to give them the pleasure of a week at a camp this Summer.

Your contributions will mean the difference between a hot, boring Summer to these youngsters, and one with a glorious week in the beautiful Oley valley.

Mrs. Mary E. Ash, 80, of Philadelphia, was in a critical condition in the Memorial hospital yesterday after she suffered multiple fractures in a fall at the home of her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman, 665 Hawthorne avenue.

Mrs. Ash, who fell down a stairway in the Hartman home, suffered multiple rib fractures, a fracture of the left upper arm, a compound fracture of the left forearm, a crushing injury to the chest wall and multiple lacerations of the body.

'No More Pencils, No More Books...'

As the school bell rang for the end of the last class at the Pottstown Junior High school yesterday afternoon, hundreds of cheering youngsters poured from the doors to welcome another Summer vacation. Similar scenes were enacted at other borough schools as classes ended for the year. Youngsters will have another hour Wednesday morning when they return for their report cards.

Senate Okays Proposal Supporting Armed Pacts

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The Senate passed tonight the Vandenberg resolution holding out the prospect—if Congress later approves—of American military aid to non-Communist nations.

The vote was 64-4. The resolution which requires no action by the House or President Truman, calls on the United Nations to drop the Security Council veto on peaceful settlement of disputes and on admission of new members.

It was sponsored by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate foreign relations committee. Approval came after more than seven and a half hours debate.

The Michigan senator told his colleagues that passage of the resolution in the wake of draft law approval shows the Senate is not "preoccupied with bombs and bayonets."

BY ITS VOTE on the resolution, Vandenberg said the Senate spelled out "America's role in collective peace."

The resolution states that this country's policy would be to join with regional groups of other nations for common defense, under the U. N. charter, if its security is threatened. Several senators objected that this means a "military alliance" with Western Europe.

But Vandenberg said Congress must approve in advance any action of this kind. He said the resolution does not call for revival of the "old open-end military lend-lease" but proposes aid to other countries as "a supplement, not a substitute, for self-defense."

'Nature Aflame...Coo of the Dove,' But Clergymen Call It 'Vulgar'

CINCINNATI, June 11 (AP)—The "strip-tease" decision of an 82-year-old Common Pleas court judge brought loud dissent today from Cincinnati church leaders.

Judge Stanley Struble, who has three children and several grandchildren ruled yesterday there is no law to define obscenity. The ruling was made in freeing Oscar Lerner, newspaper operator of charges of possession and selling obscene literature.

In a 29-page opinion he made such observations as "nature is aflame with sex fires," "the hoot of the owl, the coo of the dove."

He said there was "nothing tasteful about a series of strip-tease photographs introduced in the case."

Dr. Kemper G. McComb, executive secretary of the Council of Churches, asserted "If the judges won't back the police, what can the police do?"

HARPER DIENER, PIONEER LEADER OF LABOR, DIES

Was Founder, Only Head Of Auto Workers Local;
Championed Liberal Causes

Harper R. Diener, 56, of Douglassville RD 1, one of the pioneer labor leaders in Pottstown and the first and only president of Local 644, United Auto Workers (CIO), died early yesterday morning in Pottstown hospital.

The leader of the union at the Spicer Manufacturing division plant was stricken with a heart attack late the night of June 4 after completing a day's work as set-up man at the plant where he had been employed for 25 years.

Placed in an oxygen tent at once, the tall, robust man survived two severe attacks that caused physicians to despair of his life—the first, early Sunday morning, the second, Sunday night at 6 o'clock.

With a member of his family or a private nurse at his side constantly, he remained semi-conscious in the oxygen tent. Late Thursday night he began to sink and died at 4:45 o'clock.

UNDER THE constitution of the international auto workers, the vice president of Local 644, Walter A. Bolton, will become president. There will be no election until the term expires in February.

Mr. Diener's leadership of the Spicer's union dated back to the first workers' groups founded there. Together with the late Enoch Squibb, he had been the moving force in organizing the first formal union at the plant—the Independent Automotive Workers' Local 1.

This independent group was founded in 1933, after a strike led by Diener and Squibb.

In 1943 after years of controversy that sometimes saw Diener standing almost alone, Local 1 affiliated with the International Auto Workers group of the CIO.

A QUIET BUT militant leader not given to oratory, Diener never met serious opposition for the presidency, and the past Winter he was re-elected without opposition.

His work for liberal causes was not confined to union activity. When the establishment of the Pure Forge Institute for Negro youth was being opposed by residents, Diener appeared at a meeting of the residents and spoke vehemently against what he saw as "discrimination."

He was a tireless champion of slum clearance and Federal housing, and was one of the men most active in getting Spicer workers to purchase the Pottstown Community camp at Earlville.

As a leader, his associates said, his chief characteristics was following one project or reform at a time. No sooner had the Spicer's credit union been established, than he began plumping for the Community camp. When this was purchased, he unnumbered arguments favoring co-operatives.

THERE WERE three recent major controversies with management during (Continued on Page Eleven)

Producers Increase Ice-Cream Prices 3-5 Cents a Quart

Here's bad news for hot weather sufferers: The price of ice cream has gone up.

Among ice cream manufacturers, including Breyers, Supreme, Sealtest and the Philadelphia Dairy Products company, makers of Dolly Madison and Ansonia ice-cream, announced price boosts of between seven and eight percent yesterday, and most local dealers indicated that their prices would rise proportionately.

The increase was estimated at three to five cents per quart for the consumer.

In Pottstown, ice cream, after the price hike, will sell from 75 cents to one dollar a quart.

Transfer of Water Firm To Borough Completed

The final step in converting the Pottstown Gas and Water company to the Pottstown Water department was taken yesterday when the borough received certificates of public convenience dissolving the company and its subsidiaries.

The Public Utilities commission issued the certificates dissolving the parent company, the West Pottstown Water company, and the North Coventry Water company.

They were issued to show the dissolution was necessary and proper for the service, accommodation, convenience, and safety of the public.

With the receipt of the certificates, the acquisition of the water company by the borough, which purchased it for $1345,000 the past Fall, is completed.

Sanitary Code Fight Looms in Effort to Eliminate Blood Test

By HARRY TOLAND
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The borough board of health and the Pottstown and Suburban Restaurant association are drawing on their gloves for what may be a slambang fight over the blood test for food handlers issue.

The matter will be threshed out if and when the board and the association and its attorney meet some time next week.

Attack Fatal

Harper R. Diener (above), president of Spicer Local 644, UAW (CIO), died yesterday after a seven-day battle for life in a Pottstown hospital oxygen tent. He had suffered a heart attack.

ON THURSDAY, Wells cited two complaints about the ordinance held by the restaurateurs, but declined to explain what they were.

Last night he revealed that, besides the blood test, the cafe managers and owners object to the prohibitive cost of the over-all physical examination.

At its last meeting, the board announced it had engaged Dr. Jack Wennersten to be available to food handlers for exams at a cost of $4 per check-up.

Mrs. Marian M. Conrad, head of the association, asserted last night that even that was too much, although they planned to make their price complaint when it was guessed (Continued on Page Eleven)

Woman Asks Injunction In Fight to Build Shop

Mrs. Estella E. Williamson, 645 High street, took another round in her fight to build a home and antique shop at 720 High street yesterday.

Carrying her battle to the courts, she filed a bill in equity seeking an injunction against Building Inspector Arthur S. Kepner and Dr. and Mrs. C. Robert Elcker who are seeking to prevent the construction of her building.

The bill was accepted by Judge William F. Dannehower, of the Montgomery County court, who gave Kepner and the Elckers until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to file answers showing why the injunction should not be granted.

Mrs. Williamson began her fight against the borough when Kepner notified her that her building permit had expired — three days after she had started construction.

SHE REFUSED to stop construction, maintaining that since construction already had begun, the permit, which was first issued on Aug. 7, 1945, still was in effect. This contention was sustained by her attorney, C. Edmund Wells.

The borough, however, said that since her plans had not been approved by Kepner, the permit was only "temporary."

In an exchange of letters with Borough Solicitor Carroll L. Rutter, Wells pointed out that sufficient time had been given to approve the plans for the 25 by 20 foot building before the permit expired.

He asked Rutter if the delay was intentional and deliberate, and if borough authority was being subverted to the interests of private parties.

DR. AND MRS. Elcker entered the fight against Mrs. Williamson when excavating for the building was started. Through their attorney (Continued on Page Eleven)

200 Persons Are Feared Drowned As Danish Ship Hits Mine, Sinks

AALBORG, Denmark, June 11 (AP)—Approximately 200 persons were believed drowned today when the Danish passenger vessel Koenigshavn struck a war-time mine and sank in the Kattegat.

Many of the victims were "trapped" when they were unable to force open the jammed doors of their cabins. Survivors said they heard them screaming.

Other dazed and injured passengers fought their way to the rail and jumped overboard or clung to the doomed steamer's superstructure and masts long enough to be rescued.

Many frantic parents clutched small children in their arms as they leaped from the stricken steamer. Mothers could be seen trying to hold their children out of the water. One of those rescued said he saw an old man clinging to a ladder. A wave washed the ladder away from him. He floated a few minutes and then went down.

MOST OF THE passengers were asleep when the early-morning explosion ripped open the steamer. A spokesman for the United Steamship company, "DSDS," which owned the 1968-ton Koenigshavn, told reporters in Copenhagen that the blast "almost lifted the ship out of the sea."

YOUTHS SUFFER BROKEN LEGS IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Cycle-Truck Collision
On Nantmeal Road Sends
Teen-Agers to Hospital

Two teen-aged youths were injured seriously at 4:15 p. m. yesterday when the motorcycle on which they were riding slammed into the front fender of an incoming truck, on Nantmeal road, one mile west of Route 100.

In fair condition at the Pottstown hospital last night were Howard W. Griffith, 19, of Glen Moore RD 1, the driver of the motorcycle, and Charles Case, 16, of Pottstown RD 2.

Griffith suffered a fracture of the upper left leg, lacerations of the face, multiple abrasions of the entire body and remained under observation for possible further injuries.

The younger boy incurred a fracture of the upper left leg, a concussion of the brain and also was kept under observation for other possible injuries.

THE DRIVER OF the truck, Charles J. Nesley, 21, of Pottstown RD 2, was uninjured.

He faces arrest on a charge of driving on the wrong side of the road, according to Trooper Frank Nuthren, of the Coatesville State police barracks.

Nesley admitted to the officer that he was driving west on the narrow, winding macadam road, approximately one foot on the wrong side of the center line.

The motorcycle was coming east on the road when the two vehicles met.

THE ACCIDENT occurred on a bad spot of the road, in the middle of an S-turn between two farms.

When the "cycle struck the front left fender of the truck, which was loaded with building stone, the two youths were thrown off, Griffith landing on the highway and Case being thrown over a hedge.

Police said Griffith was driving at 30-35 miles an hour, and Nesley at approximately 25 miles an hour. Good Will ambulance driver William Tosto gave first aid to Griffith, while driver Robert Roth, operating a second Good Will ambulance, helped young Case.

GRIFFITH'S motorcycle was a complete wreck, but the truck suffered only an estimated $12 worth of damage to the fender.

According to police, the truck is owned by the Levensood and Froscher company, of Elverson, who handle building materials.

Griffith is a laborer on the Reading Railroad company. Case lives in Pottstown RD 3 at the home of Clarence Pennypacker, his guardian.

One man was injured seriously this morning at 1:40 o'clock when a sedan hit a guard rail on Swamp Pike near Fruitville, bounced off the rail, hit a concrete abutment, careened 50 feet down the highway and struck the rail again.

Varied Program Arranged For School Band Concert

William F. Lamb Jr., director of the Pottstown Senior High school band, promised a varied program of popular and semi-classical music for the band concert to be given in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

The director hopes to raise at least $400 from the concert to buy jackets and sweaters for the band members.

The State champions will keep the garments as personal mementoes of their triumph over the State-wide competitions at Oil City the past Spring.

Many of the soloists who won superior ratings at the competition will be present Tuesday night. Lamb said to show the audience how they did it.

10 Million for Relief Ordered by Truman as Flood Rolls Unchecked

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11 (AP)—President Truman signed a $10,000,000 emergency resolution for flood relief today as fresh disasters struck the Pacific Northwest.

The Columbia river swept over Portland's $6,500,000 airport while the President viewed the devastated Vanport area.

MARSHALL ASKS SENATE RESTORE AID PLAN CUT

Administrator Hoffman Backs ERP Founder In Rapping House Slash

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The "Father" and the "Boss" of the European Recovery program said today that the program faces ruin if spending cuts voted by the House are allowed to stand.

Secretary of State Marshall said the 16-nation recovery effort will be a "calculated risk for failure" unless the Senate succeeds in restoring most of the House cuts. And Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the program, said the cuts would practically wipe out "the most productive and the most far-reaching part" of the program.

Marshall, who first proposed the recovery plan a year ago this month, and Hoffman appeared before the Senate appropriations committee.

Several Republican and Democratic members of the committee said the group will vote to cut back most of the money which the House took out of the first-year budget for the Marshall plan.

Now known as the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), Hoffman told the senators this cut amounted to $1,433,000,000. He and Marshall were among the last to testify before the Senate group ended public hearings on the question.

Earlier witnesses included Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who is leading the fight to get the full assistance program voted, and Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. Stassen backed Vandenberg's stand. With the funds fight approaching a climax, the State department opened negotiations with the Marshall plan countries on agreements covering (1) what the U. S. will give or loan the European countries, and (2) what those countries will do for themselves and for each other.

Senate Unit to Probe For Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—A Senate labor subcommittee decided today to "get the facts" on the wage dispute between three brotherhoods and the nation's railroads at a public hearing Tuesday.

Chairman Ball (R-Minn.) said the

"A man knows the problem better when he sees these things himself," Mr. Truman said.

Before his special train left for California, the President signed the resolution which makes $10,000,000 of housing funds available for relief in the flood-stricken Northwest.

Torrential storms have added these developments to the havoc wrought by the three-week rampage of flood waters.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER flood moved slowly toward a $43,000,000 aluminum plant in Portland. Only one dike—being reinforced by 800 men—stood between the water and the Reynolds Metal company plant. Army engineers could not predict whether it would hold.

Army engineers said the dikes protecting the rain-flooded town of Richland, Wash., were "critical," and prepared to evacuate the town if necessary.

The home of Carleton Shultz, atomic energy commission manager at Richland, was moved to permit widening the dike. The Manhattan atomic energy plant itself—located inland from Richland—would not be endangered even if the dikes broke.

Rains washed out highways in Central Oregon and Washington. Two persons drowned in an Oregon stream.

Wenatchee's 12,000 residents had only a single day's water supply after the Columbia river buckled the floor of that Central Washington city's pumping plant.

Anti-Lynch Bill Slashed in Committee

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) reported today that the "most objectionable section" of an anti-lynch bill was knocked out today by the Senate Judiciary committee.

He told a reporter that proposed penalties against any state, county or community where a lynching occurred were removed.

A final committee vote on the controversial measure was delayed until Monday after two lengthy closed door sessions failed to produce a vote today.

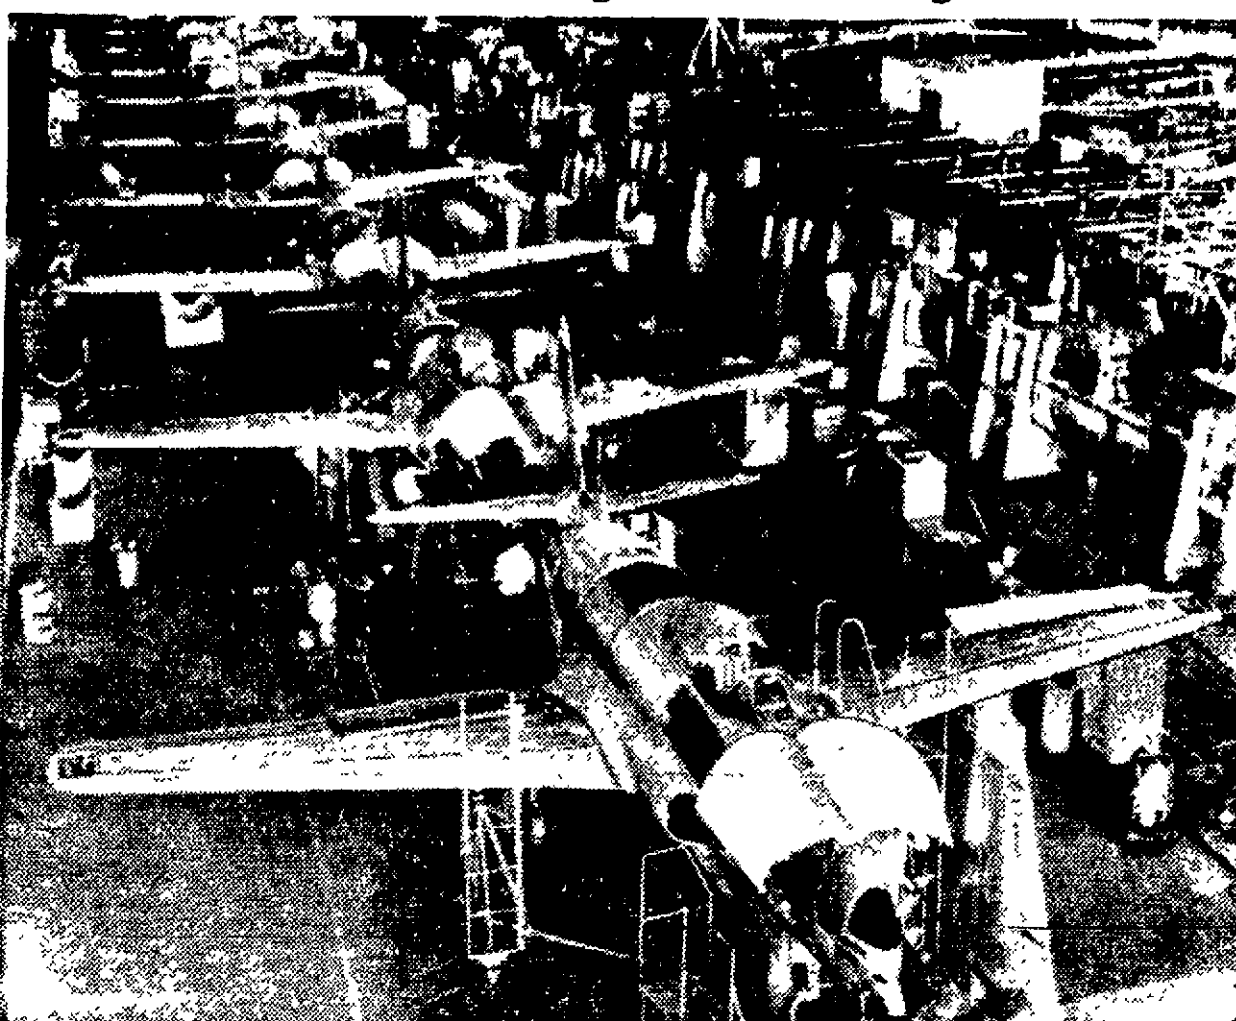

Senator Langer (R-ND), acting chairman, confirmed Eastland's report that the bill had been "modified considerably today."

One southern senator, who asked that his name not be used, said the bill now is so watered down it is not very objectionable.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Judiciary committee was forced to leave the session early to take an airplane to his home state of Wisconsin but will return Monday in time for the committee showdown. Republican leaders have indicated the anti-lynching bill might be called up for action at this session as a civil rights measure.

five man subcommittee invited both sides to testify at that time. Besides Ball, committee members are Senators Jenner (R-Ind.), Donnell (R-Mo.), Ellender (D-La.) and Murray (D-Mont.)

U. S. Turns Out Big Fleet of Jet Fighters

Moving down the assembly line at a Burbank, Calif., aircraft plant are some of hundreds of P-80 "Shooting Stars" being turned out for the U. S. Air Force. Full production of this standard fighter-plane, it was announced, has been in progress for three years. The P-80s have become the backbone of the nation's jet fighter strength, combining speed over 550 m.p.h. with striking power of six 50-cal. machine guns.

U. N. Delays Vote on Proposal By U. S. for Atomic Control

LAKE SUCCESS, June 11 (AP)—The Security council today put off a vote on the American atomic control plan until next week when a Soviet veto is expected.

Russia has fought the United States proposal in the United Nations Atomic Energy commission for the past two years.

However, there is no veto in the commission and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has been unable to kill the plan. Three weeks ago the commission voted over Soviet opposition to suspend work until Russia and the majority could agree. The parent council then was called to act.

U. S. Deputy Delegate Philip Jessup formally moved today that the council approve the American scheme originally laid down June 14, 1946, by Bernard M. Baruch. Gromyko blocked action by asking to speak at the next meeting, set for Wednesday.

"ALL GOVERNMENTS are faced with one or the other of two alternatives," Jessup said. Either a continuation of the race in atomic armaments, or agreement on a system of international control in which all nations would have confidence because they believed it to be effective. There is no middle ground.

Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan supported Jessup and contended that Russia has refused to consider even the essential elements of any system of international control.

Westinghouse Offer Of 6 Percent Hike Rejected by Union

PITTSBURGH, June 11 (AP)—The CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union today rejected a six percent wage increase offered its 75,000 members by the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

The rejection came a few hours after the company had made the offer to the three unions recognized by Westinghouse. The others are the AFL Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Federation of Westinghouse independent unions. Representatives of these two unions had no comment immediately.

A company statement said the offer, including an additional paid holiday for hourly paid employees, actually amounted to an 8.4 percent hourly boost. Neither the company nor the unions disclosed present wage rates.

Edward J. Matthews, international representative of the electrical workers, said in a letter to Westinghouse that "the so-called six percent wage and salary increase would provide Westinghouse employees with an increase in their take home pay far below the increases agreed to between the major companies in the electrical manufacturing industry and our unions."

House Okays Bill to Admit DPs To U. S.; Figure Set at 202,000

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—A bill to admit 202,000 homeless Europeans and an unspecified number of orphan children into the United States was passed by the House today, 289 to 91.

The "displaced persons" measure contains far fewer restrictions on the proposed immigration than a bill previously passed by the Senate. The bills now will go to a Senate-House conference committee, which will compromise the differences.

The House bill, sponsored by Rep. Fellows (R-Me.), passed after two days of clashing debate in which the proposed future American citizens were variously described as "the best people in Europe" and "scum, subversives and crackpots."

The legislation would admit in the next two years 200,000 DPs who have been living in DP camps or in the occupied zones of Germany, Italy and Austria since April 21, 1947.

IN ADDITION, it would permit the entry of some 2000 Czech refugees who fled their homeland after a Communist coup overthrew the democratic government of Czechoslovakia the past Spring, plus several thousand "unmarried minor orphan children" classified as DPs. Orphans would be admitted in the first priority group. They would also be issued special non-quota immigration visas.

Repeated efforts by House members to lower U. S. immigration bars for former Polish soldiers, who fought on the side of the Allies against Germany in World War II, were beaten down by narrow margins.

Similarly, the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) which would have virtually killed any chance of an early flow of DPs to this country.

Vorys sought to keep the barriers up until other nations agree to accept their proportionate share of the homeless, many of whom have been living in DP camps since the end of the war. The Ohio lawmaker defended his proposal on the ground that it was the "only solution—the only way to clear out these DP camps once and for all."

BUT FELLOWS objected that the Vorys amendment would "destroy" the bill, and Rep. Javits (R-NY) declared it would "put off for years" the solution to the problem.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) said other nations have already welcomed many thousands of refugees since the war ended. He cited figures that Britain has taken 50,000 and is taking others at the rate of 5000 a month, while Belgium has taken 27,000, France 16,000 and Canada 50,000. Australia, New Zealand and Switzerland have also accepted sizeable portions, he said.

Lewis Wins Fight to Continue Distress Benefits; Lawsuit Seen

Fate of Draft In Hands of House Group

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—House leaders have put the draft bill on the "must" list for action next week. But whether the country will have such a law this year depends on 12 men and what they do in the next few days.

The Senate yesterday passed the draft bill to call men 19 through 25 into two years service. Its vote came almost three months after President Truman asked for such a law.

It is now up to the House, but whether it acts depends on the House rules committee, through which legislation must funnel. This committee, composed of eight Republicans and four Democrats, can clear bills to the floor or bottle them up.

A House draft bill similar in most major points to the Senate bill, has been worked up and approved by the House armed services committee. But the rules committee has not given it the go ahead signal.

Unless the bill is cleared and then acted on by the House next week, or before adjournment scheduled June 19, the draft law may die this year much as a universal military training bill died last session.

House Speeds Action On Farm Program And Price Supports

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The House was set tonight to get a jump on the Senate on the issue of whether this Congress should pass a long-range farm program of permanent price supports.

It agreed to take up for action tomorrow a proposal of its agriculture committee which in effect said "let's stick with the present program with a few changes, until June 30, 1950."

The Senate agriculture committee is pushing a measure providing permanent price supports at somewhat lower levels than now exist.

The Senate bill matches in many respects recommendations of President Truman and his Agriculture department.

HOUSE FARM LEADERS believe passage of their bill ahead of Senate action would give them a strategic advantage. They figure Senate leaders, in their anxiety to adjourn Congress next week, would accept the House proposal.

Preliminary debate indicated House passage of its bill tomorrow. Lining up behind it were most members from farm states and many from city areas.

While many city members complained of high food prices, a number of them agreed with Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) that price supports are helpful to consumers because, he said, they encourage farmers to produce abundantly.

THE HOUSE BILL would continue the present farm program in a modified form until mid-1950. Most major farm products would be supported at 90 percent of parity—the existing rate for virtually all of them except cotton. Its present rate is 92 1/2.

Commodities affected would be cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, dairy products, hogs, poultry, eggs and peanuts grown for direct food uses as contrasted with those grown for oil.

The measure also would modify the present program by lowering the minimum support price for several other products from the present 90 percent to 80 percent. The secretary of agriculture would determine the rate. Products which would fall in this class are potatoes, sweet potatoes, soybeans, flaxseed, peanuts grown for oil, dry beans and peas, and American-Egyptian cotton.

Wife Watches Prize Bull Gore Farmer to Death

NEW BRIGHTON, June 11 (AP)—As his wife looked on helplessly, John C. Gochring, 68-year-old farmer, was gored to death last night by one of his prize bulls.

Gochring had entered the barn of his Crystal Springs farm in Marian township to secure the bull which had broken loose.

As he tried to coax the animal back into its stall, the bull charged and threw the farmer to the ground on its horns.

No Help Wanted!

WHEN Pottstown High school graduated its 1948 class this week, the members came in for a number of awards. There was an almost endless rollcall of scholars who accepted medals, money and magazines for proficiency in everything from watching the clock and calendar to watching the "C" sharps in music and the dates in history.

There were acceptances of $50 prizes for writing essays, $5 awards for attendance. There were gifts for surmounting the most obstacles and for abiding the most difficult foreign tongue.

Yet Pottstown High school's officials could find no scholars to accept a $200 college aid plan offered by the Pottstown College club. Nor could they find a second student who would accept a similar offer from the Business and Professional Women's club.

Their futile search aroused curiosity in the minds of Pottstownians who were interested in the educational welfare of youth.

Why were there no graduates who would accept the college aid?

Isn't it necessary for any of our youth today to "work their way through college?"

Is there so much money around that every seeker of higher education can pay his way through college?

Or is it true that the present generation has its palm outstretched only for free handouts? Were the monetary aids refused because someday the acceptors would have to repay the debt?

Isn't the graduates of today interested in making progress the hard way?

Yes, interesting questions are evolved from the failure of Pottstown's youth to accept offered help.

How to Create a Meat Shortage

IT IS probable that a return to price control and rationing will be one of the issues of this year's political campaign. And the voters, whom all the candidates will be wooing, should refresh their memories as to what that kind of regimentation did to the country in the past.

In one of its Cost of Living Reports, the Bureau of Labor Statistics emphasized the effect of the black market when it said that "meat counters were empty more often during the first four days of the week of May 15, 1946, than in any corresponding period in any month since March, 1944." At that time, live-stock receipts were at a good level, but price control was still in effect.

In 1945, an investigation was made of black market operations in New York state. The late Mayor LaGuardia testified before a Congressional committee and described the findings. "The inspectors visited 106 retail stores in 43 towns scattered throughout Black Meat Area," he said. "They found that 48 of the stores had no meat. Of the remaining 57 stores with meat, only seven were in full compliance with OPA regulations."

Under the competitive supply and demand system the amount of meat available will rise and fall in accord with natural factors, such as weather and season, consumer requirements, etc. Under price control, by contrast, two things happen. Supply may be sharply curtailed for the reason that the legal price is not sufficient to make raising meat animals profitable. And the bulk of the available meat goes into the black market where only the few can afford to buy.

Meat is just one example—the same thing happens with a long list of commodities when we abandon free enterprise for a "planned," politically-administered economy. Remember that when candidates try to win your support by urging a resumption of peacetime price control.

Women to the Factories

SINCE the beginning of the war, a half million women have vanished from domestic service and are showing no signs of wanting to come back to help housewives do their laundering, cooking, baking and housekeeping. According to the women's bureau of the department of labor, most of them have gone into factories—and they refuse to leave.

It isn't necessarily a matter of pay. Some receive more money, but many do not when board, room, laundry and other expenses are taken into account.

Some Pottstown women who have given up domestic work are said to be happy over their escape from what they considered a life of loneliness and drudgery. Many have become skilled workers, competing directly with men in the labor force.

The new life may mean harder physical labor for them, but they seem to like it better than doing housework—for other women.

Putting Pottstown on the Map

To the Editor: In reply to Taxpayer, ("Borough Truck at Ball Games," Readers Say, June 8) it seems to me that sometime in the past five or six months, a sort of resolution was drawn up that each and every borough councilman was supposed to do everything in his power to help promote better recreation for the betterment of the community.

I feel that Highway Superintendent W. Earl Pottenger has tried his best to fulfill the intent of this resolution, even though he is not a member of borough council.

Now, the main question here is: Are the members of borough council, plus the Chamber of Commerce, with "Potty" and the Cardinals, or aren't they?

Remember, the Cardinals, with whom "Potty" is affiliated, last year won the State championship—a real asset to Pottstown. With a little more moral support and a little less knocking from people like Taxpayer, there is no earthly reason why the team can't go on to repeat last year's performance and possibly win the national championship.

If people like Taxpayer don't want to support the Cardinals now, then they shouldn't try to "glad hand" them when they make the big time. And, with a manager like "Potty," I am one person who will say without any hedging that they will be big time soon.

Isn't you ashamed of your petty letters against our highway superintendent and his ball club, Taxpayer? Remember, the greatest motto always has been, "If you can't boost, don't knock." Let's put it into practice, not tomorrow, not next week, but right now.

Barber's Lot Tough, Too

To the Editor: In answer to "Burned Up" ("Stuck on Half Holidays," Readers Say, June 10):

It's guys like you that make this world what it is today. You think of no one but yourself.

So you work to 3:30 every day. Well, that's too bad. What do you do for two hours after work the other days of the week?

My husband is a barber. He goes to work at 8 every morning and it is almost 8 o'clock every night before he gets home, five and a half days a week. Friday night is an hour later and he also is at work all day Saturday.

Sure, the shop closes at 7 o'clock, but it's guys like you who pile in the shop two minutes before closing after the shop has been open for your convenience all day.

But I'll bet when your 3:30 whistle blows you are the first one out of the place. You think you have a beef, you who have two hours every day but one to do your shopping.

It's a shame the town didn't know your wash machine was going on the blink. The stores could have all stayed open for you.

Maybe you would like the stores to remain open 24 hours every day just for you.

Russian Policy Blocks Palestine Guard Force

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
 (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

TRYGVE LIE'S suggestion that the United Nations be provided with a small guard force for use in such situations as now exists in Palestine has little chance of adoption.

It will run smack into the Western conviction, based on experience whenever military co-operation has been tried since the war, that any such move which involves Russian participation is the height of futility even if it does not actually invite subversion.

Almost simultaneously with the U. N. secretary-general's proposal the Security Council was cold shouldering Russia's desire to contribute to the international group of military observers in Palestine.

(It was right funny, too. Gromyko was trying his best to get an argument started which would lead to a vote, but didn't want to make the formal motion himself. His first little speech drew no response. So he made another. So did his tout-boy from the Ukraine. The U. S. took a couple of minutes to point out that the matter was up to Mediator Bernadotte, who has asked for a few officers each from the U. S., France, Sweden and Belgium. Gromyko thought it was silly for anyone to say that other nations could have observers and Russia could not. Nobody did say that. They just adjourned. It will come up again, but the odds are that Russia will get no observation seat in Palestine.)

Having made the mistake of letting the Russians into Berlin, Prague and other European areas which could have been occupied by the Western Allies, the United States and Britain cannot be expected to keep on compounding the error.

Reports from Lake Success also indicate that the Lie suggestion will lack even the small nation support which has produced the greatest clamor for a real international police force. This time they fear that, given force with which to work, the Security Council might start getting tough, aggravating instead of calming the world situation.

It has been suggested that Lie's chief aim might be to stir up the big five military experts who have been conferring without progress on the objectives, size, and organization of a U. N. police force.

THE BIG TROUBLE, aside from the fact that Russia uses her participation in every international project solely for purposes of obstruction, is that a police force must have laws to enforce, and there are none.

The United Nations was created to keep the peace, not make it. Making it is the job of the big five. They haven't done and can't do it in the face of Russia's campaign to subject the world to Communist imperialism.

Not knowing what sort of peace they will have to enforce, it would be pretty difficult for the military men to make their plans even if there were not the problem of Russian participation.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

JAMES A. FARLEY, 60, our genial former Postmaster General, addressed the Chicago Executives' Club on May 7.

It was my good fortune to sit at the speaker's table with him, where I was interested in his comment about the likelihood of our getting into another war in the near future.

"I am convinced that trouble is NOT near!" stated Mr. Farley.

History supports his view, too, for international conflicts don't occur twice in the same generation.

Thus, the Franco-Prussian War began in 1870. World War I, in 1914. And World War II, in 1939. So history supports Mr. Farley's view that war is NOT imminent.

"But, Dr. Crane, how can we keep Russia from overspreading Europe?" many readers have written to inquire.

WELL, POLICEMEN seldom use their billy clubs or guns, for the very presence of them on their hips exerts psychological coercion.

So Uncle Sam should figuratively wear his Atomic Bomb on his hip and thus capitalize on its coercive influence in promoting peace.

Nothing would stabilize Europe more quickly than for Uncle Sam to offer 100 Atomic Bombs to any oppressed country which the United Nations would certify as deserving such aid.

These bombs should NEVER leave our custody, of course, for our own experts should handle them till they were dropped on their target.

But just the "availability" of such aid, would snap Europe out of the delirium faster than all the Marshall Plan funds, including the billion dollars for tobacco for Europeans!

"If war is NOT imminent, then why have a draft or UMT?"

College men are failing in their grades because of uncertainty on these points and parents are becoming unduly jittery and neurotic.

Well, 70% of our college scientists and educators oppose UMT. They say it would be far better insurance for the U. S. A. to spend these proposed billions of dollars on further research in atomic energy and in airplane development.

And 30,000,000 ex-veterans certainly haven't forgotten their recent war training! They'll be available in case of any highly improbable war in the next decade.

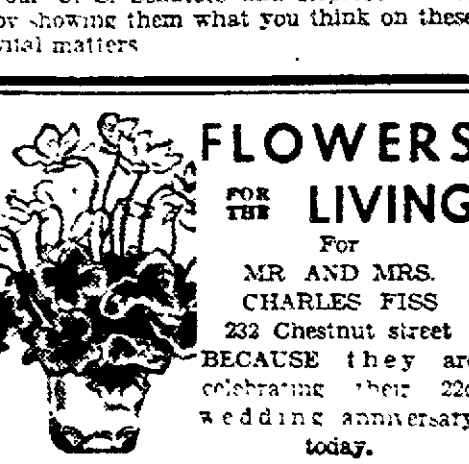

Cardinal Dougherty, of the Roman Catholic Church, likewise votes UMT as endangering the morality of youth. You wives and mothers can attest to that point.

You readers of educational articles are the real backbone of America. So help your U. S. Senators and Representatives by showing them what you think on these vital matters.

TOUGH GOING FOR PROSPECTOR

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 11—It's a toss-up whether Tony Martin will make his second independent film (based on the life of the famous vaudeville team of Van and Schenck) as soon as he returns from Europe, or rush right into the co-starring role of "Bagdad" with Yvonne de Carlo, for which he has signed at Universal.

"Bagdad" will be a lavish technicolor musical—and give Tony another swooney, romantic role.

At a party we went to the other night, Garbo pulled the photographers again, telling them she didn't want to be snapped—and to stay away from her. Funny part is, not one of them tried (or had any intention of trying) to bother her for a picture.

There were a lot more popular and fresher faces around. Garbo can relax. We really don't think she'll have that sort of "trouble" anymore!

RICHARD GREENE, now finishing his role in "The O'Flynn" with Doug Fairbanks used to be at 20th-Century Fox where he was recently dropped. Now that same studio has signed him to do two more pictures there which will pay him more than he used to get in an entire year on that lot! Meanwhile Richard and his pretty wife, Patricia Medina will have a vacation in England this Summer—even though Mrs. G. will be hobnobbing about a bit with that broken ankle of hers...

"Britanna Mews," the title of the film that Maureen O'Hara is making in England, doesn't refer to a docile British lion. The mews are coach houses—or stables behind the manors. (And what do YOU talk about on rainy nights??)

THERE MAY BE more—much more trouble this Summer with the Brian Donlevy even though everything is supposed to be all settled. His attorneys claim that her attorneys are not living up to the terms of a certain letter pertaining to custody of their child—a letter that was not included in the court agreement. However, if there are fireworks, Brian won't be here for them because he'll be in the east having a fling at Summer stock.

IN PARIS, an enterprising woman has a circulating library of the latest and most expensive women's hats which she rents for about four dollars a day. After about 14 wearings, she sells the hats at reduced prices. She nets herself around four hundred a week!... "Despite all the feudin', a-fussin' and a-fightin' you can bet "One Touch of Venus" will come forth as one swell hunk of entertainment. Ava Gardner emerges as strictly star stuff and Bob Walker really busts forth as a comedian—So good that producer Lester Cowan wants him for another picture along rib-tickling lines. Right quick. If Metro will rent Robert out, of course.

IF YOU SIMPLY can't wait until Dr. Kinsey's report on women comes out, try last year's "Modern Woman, the Lost Sex" by Lundberg and Farnham. There are generous quotes from a speech made by Kinsey in 1945 on his surveys among the so-called gentler sex.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Radio's Ralph Rose now is producer-director-writer of a new Sunday radio series, dramatizing classic tales for young and old. His professional career began as a violin virtuoso in 1928, when he was 17. Ralph was born in Oklahoma City, attended the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, the Juillard school in New York, and was graduated from Michigan State university. He has free-lanced in Hollywood as writer and producer of radio shows, served nearly three years with a U. S. Air Force radio unit during World War II.

As an insurance salesman, Franklin P. Adams, member of radio program "Information, Please," decided to make writing his career. His first daily column, "A Little Bit of Everything," and a weather story—also a daily chore—earned him $25 a week in Chicago. Moving to New York, Adams did the same sort of column there until the radio program claimed him in 1938. He was born in Illinois, attended Armour Institute of Technology and the University of Michigan before his insurance selling days.

You Meet Such Interesting People (And they have such delightful nicknames!)

"DUKE" ELLINGTON originally won his nickname because of his elegant taste in clothes. His always ultra-chic raiment suggested royalty or something mighty close to it — and a Duke was made, if not exactly born... Director Elia Kazan is called "Gadge" by his friends — or if you insist on being formal, "Gadget."

But if there's a satisfactory reason for the nickname, I, for one, haven't heard it... Short-haired comic Lou Costello and long-haired conductor Andre Kostelanetz are both called "Costy." What's that the late Rudyard "Klips" Kipling once said about never the twain shall meet?

THE REASON FOR "Honeychile" Wilder's nickname is evident whenever she speaks, which is usually. Her accent positively shrieks, huh, of magnolia blossoms, Dixie belles, and possibly a mint julep or two... Burgess Meredith's first name is frequently shortened to "Buz

600 Persons Attend Cub Pack Circus

An estimated 600 youngsters, ranging in age from six to 60, saw the second annual Boyertown Cub Pack circus on Washington school playground last night.

The youngsters seemed to bear up under the strain better than their fathers and mothers, as the small fry raced from one attraction to another, looking at the Stomach Twists, the wild turkey, fortune teller, poisonous snake and ponies, which transported the children once around a corner of the playground.

Music was furnished by a Cub band under the direction of George Haddad. The general manager of the show was Armand Weller who was attired in a tuxedo and wore a high silk hat.

The Cub members put on a series of skits on a platform during the program, including a big league baseball game and several music selections.

Stands and attractions were in the care of members of the Lions club, sponsor of the Cub Pack. Wives of club members and den mothers also assisted. Henry Fulmer, cubmaster, was general supervisor.

Isolationists Rapped As ERP Enemies

HEARTFORD, Conn., June 11 (AP)—Senator Scott W. Lucas (D-III) charged tonight that Republican isolationists and Henry Wallace followers were menacing the European Recovery program.

He asserted in a keynote speech to the Democratic state convention that the House appropriations committee had "driven a dagger into the heart of the program" by "mercilessly" slashing funds requested for its operation by President Truman.

"I cannot imagine any single action which Congress could take which would do more to advance the cause of world Communism," said Lucas.

The keynoter, whose speech opened a two-day convention to elect Connecticut's 20-vote delegation to the national convention, asserted that "an aroused America must root out this terribly mistaken idea of isolationism before it is too late."

"The Republican party," he said, "has never purged itself of those die-hard isolationists who have consistently failed to understand that in the modern world American security is tightly bound with the security of the whole world."

STEAMBOAT on the RIVER

The steamboat was a glamorous sight on many of our navigable rivers many years ago. People thronged the wharfs and landings to see "the boat" come in bringing passengers, freight, and mail.

Some of these old steamers still ply their trade, but most of them have passed into history. Time and change have produced more modern methods of transportation.

The steamboat in the picture thus becomes a symbol of change. But the river on which it rides is God's handiwork, a symbol of constancy. It flows on and on through the endless years.

The Church stands for the things of God—the constant things. It stands for the Bible, for faith and hope and right living. All material things may change, but these will abide forever.

Get acquainted with your Church, and put your faith in the things that endure.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Delightfully Gay Summer Fashions Color Service League's 14th Annual June Fete

By MARY JANE FEGELY (Mercury Staff Writer)

Slips, slips and more slips were seen last night at the annual June Fete staged by the Junior Service League in the Brookside Country club. Judging from the frocks worn by the ladies, the newest fad is to have a very sheer dress with a pretty slip to show through, or something along the cotton line.

No matter what the material, it must be gay! About 350 couples drifted into the ballroom and danced from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. to the music of Ken Nichols and his orchestra.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. J. Evans Thomas and Mrs. John M. Howard, co-chairmen. Mrs. Carl Binder is president of the league, with the following cabinet: Mrs. Nelson Feroe, vice president; Mrs. Albert Shute, secretary; Miss Jeanne Saylor, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Drumheller, corresponding secretary; and Miss Eleanor Weikel, placement chairman.

AMONG the many beautiful and colorful gowns worn last night was the one chosen by Mrs. Benjamin Longaker. It featured a pink lace top with cap sleeves and a black taffeta peler pan collar. Her skirt was a very full black taffeta affair, and her jewelry was gold. Mrs. Ralph Maack was also charming in an aqua off the shoulder gown which was trimmed in black and sprinkled with aqua sequins. The fitted bodice and full skirt were highlighted by a huge bustle in the back.

In a white off the shoulder blouse featuring a fitted bodice and a black and white checked taffeta skirt, Miss Virginia Egolf presented a pretty picture. Her only adornment was red costume jewelry. Smiling prettily, Mrs. John Wanger whirled about the dance floor in an aqua light weight faille gown styled with a high round neck, cap sleeves, fitted bodice from which fell a tiny full peplum, and a full skirt. Her jewelry consisted of rhinestones.

ONE OF the most stunning gowns was worn by Miss Almeda Martz, who off-set her white pique dress with gold jewelry, bag and slippers. The gown featured a low rounded back and was edged with a narrow flat collar which formed cut work cape sleeves. The front of the bodice was cut straight and low. The full skirt was also finished off in cut work.

The new petticoat effect was carried out by the gown worn by Mrs. Eleanor Weikel. Blue and white circular stripes, thin straps, a low cut bodice and a full skirt which featured a hoop and ruffled hemline, completed the gown. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. Mrs. J. Robert Gray's silver gown over peach gown won many compliments from the ladies. The style featured a square neckline, cap sleeves, fitted bodice and a full skirt. A wide sash of gray net and peach colored roses completed the costume.

MRS. HERBERT Drumheller was stunning in a rose linen gown which boasted one wide gray strap and a flat ruffle of gray linen. Her accessories were silver. In a black nylon net gown featuring thin straps, a fitted bodice and a full double tiered skirt, Mrs. S. Russell Ash cut a dashing figure on the dance floor.

Mrs. Melvin Gingrich, in a black linen gown with yellow and black braided straps, yellow linen pleated ruffles around the heart shaped fitted bodice, and five rows of yellow rick rack around the bottom of the full skirt, was charming. Her accessories matched the gown.

Wine colored sail boats seemed to sail along as Mrs. J. Evans Thomas danced by in a blue denim featuring a fitted bodice held up by thin straps, and a full skirt on which was applied the sailboats. Mrs. Jack Ludwick Jr. looked fetching in a powder blue crepe dress with a high neckline which was braided at the top and sprinkled with silver sequins. The full skirt was attached to a long bodice which was also trimmed in braided crepe. Rhinestone jewelry completed the costume.

GOLD JEWELRY set off the brown lace ballerina length gown worn by Mrs. Nelson Feroe. The model featured a brown slip, cap sleeves, round high neckline and a slit down the back of the bodice. A large bustle bow caught at the side, and sprinkled with sequins, was the main attraction of the gown worn by Mrs. Carl Binder. The silk jersey print also featured a low cut V neckline.

Looking radiant in her flowered cotton print dress with a low square neckline, small straps, fitted bodice and a full skirt was Mrs. John Howard. Mrs. James I. Wendell Jr. was lovely in a black gown with a low cut sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves and a full skirt which was caught up with a huge red rose.

The "moon tan" type dress was chosen by Mrs. Carl Kendig, as she chatted with friends in her blue and white flowered pique gown, which was styled with a fitted bodice the top of which was trimmed with a wide flat ruffle and wide white straps. The skirt was very full.

WITH HER golden blonde hair and tanned skin, Mrs. William Kindsvatter made a charming picture in her green net gown over a pink slip. An off the shoulder neckline, gathered bodice, full skirt and white Summer jewelry completed the outfit. Another off the shoulder gown was worn by Mrs. Robert Powell. Her dress was made of pink net and featured a pink net ruffle around the shoulders and a full skirt. In her hair she wore two large gold roses.

Gleaming silver sequins on a black ruffle around the low cut bodice of the aqua gown worn by Miss Nancy Vaughan received "Oh's" and "Ah's" from many of her female friends. The top was held up by thin black shoulder straps, and the bodice and full skirt were made of aqua net.

LOOKING like a fashion model in her green cotton print ballerina length dress with an off the shoulder neckline, was Miss Nancy Diefenbach. Fastened at the top of the bodice in the back, was a long green velvet bow centered with an old fashioned bouquet of flowers.

The most dramatic of all the costumes was the one chosen by dark haired Mrs. Daniel Boyer. Covering all but the skirt of her white pique gown was a lovely white silk jersey shawl on which were applied bright flowers. Taking off her bolero jacket, Miss Mary Ann Mills displayed a darling "moon tan" gown made of green and white plaid cotton with a fitted bodice and full skirt.

Local WCTU Learns Of Brotherhood At Picnic Meeting

"Safeguard the Nation Through Christian Brotherhood" was the theme adopted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Pottstown at their picnic supper meeting at Sanatoga Grange hall, Thursday.

Stressing the theme of brotherhood through prayer, scripture, poem and meditation, Mrs. George Kercher led the devotion. The song for the devotion, "I Want To Be a Christian," was sung by Mrs. Edward Graham with Miss Minnie McAfee accompanying at the piano.

During the business session, with Miss Laura R. Ecker, president, presiding, reports were given by Miss Gertrude V. Ecker, Mrs. W. F. Maloney and Mrs. Lester Ulmer.

It was reported that during the celebration of the Jean Gasseday Day, June 9, twelve bouquets were presented to invalids. Miss Della Prizer announced that the grave of Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer, ardent temperance worker and Civil War nurse, had been decorated on Memorial day.

MRS. DENNIS LOUGHLIN displayed the scrapbook of interesting clipping references to the temperance cause during the past year. Letters were read from the replies received in reference to radio programs which depicted the drink problem.

Gifts of material, thread, pins, needles and scissors, together with a sum of money was received for the Welfare Aid Fund for the children of Greece. Miss McAfee, Miss Mary Esbach and Mrs. Ulmer will prepare the gifts for shipment to Greece.

Mrs. C. S. Johns, chairman of the afghan committee, announced the completion of the third afghan which will be presented to the Valley Forge General hospital.

Mrs. Strubhar entered a protest at the meeting against the liquor advertisement in a leading magazine and secured signatures from all members present to be sent to the publishers of the magazine protesting against the said advertisement. A subscription to the Union magazine, plus five dollars, both of which were sent to a foreign mission enabled the local group to become a light line union.

THE PRESIDENT appointed the following to the nominating committee: Miss Anna Nagle, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Joseph Conway, and to the auditing committee, Miss Esbach, Miss Prizer and Mrs. Mary Kopp.

Before the close of the meeting, Mr. Elmer Wisner addressed the group on "Brotherhood," speaking of the spiritual and practical side of loving one another. He described the effect of alcohol and nicotine on the pi ameter section of the brain, the most delicate membrane, which is so greatly affected by the misuse of either substance.

He concluded by saying, "If eating meat be a stumbling block to my brother, then I will refrain from eating meat."

Mrs. Oliver Wittenmyer showed talking movies on brotherhood with her movies covering the three subjects, "Go Ye," "Fishers of Men" and "City Streets."

Following the group singing of Negro spirituals led by Mrs. Ed Graham, a picnic supper was enjoyed by the group.

Doe Club Members Learn the Secret Of Keeping Young

Over 50 members of the Doe club howled last night with glee as they learned the secret of keeping young and finally growing old gracefully and listened to and watched Miss Rose Meyer, a cosmetic lecturer-demonstrator put on a performance.

Selecting from the group, Mrs. Edith Garber, as a blonde; Mrs. Betty Miller, a brunette; Mrs. Rose Weidenbaugh and Mrs. Marie Unruh, brunettes, Miss Meyer proceeded to tie their hair atop their heads, give them a mask pack, and when they looked like ghosts on a Halloween night, she called in Mr. Garth Herd, local photographer, and had their pictures taken amid screams of laughter from the audience.

IN BETWEEN THE moments of mirth, the women learned the correct method of giving themselves facials, with Miss Meyer showing the right strokes of massaging, and explaining the many steps necessary in skin care. She admonished them to always cleanse, tone and lubricate the skin daily.

In the complete demonstration of skin care she used Mrs. Mabel High for a model. Following the demonstration she passed out gifts to all members.

During the business portion of the meeting, with Mrs. Nellie Koury, president, presiding, thank-you letters were read from the Lion-Y camp and the cancer campaign thanking the group for contributions received.

MEMBERS DECIDED to sponsor a boy to attend the camp through the Pottstown Mercury fund. Plans were also made for the annual club picnic to be held July 25.

The next meeting will be held June 24 at which time a birthday party will honor all members who had birthdays during April, May and June.

Winners of prizes last night were Mrs. Jane Williams, Mrs. Ernest Weikel, Mrs. Nora St. Oge, Mrs. Irma Dengler, Mrs. Jane Suidman, Mrs. Shirley Freese with the Come and Get It prize awarded to Mrs. Nellie Kulp.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Fay Speer, chairlady, and the Mesdames Vivian Newhall, Rose Weikel, Helen Pray, Ann Smith and Lavera Bechtel.

Over 1000 Attend Annual Alumni Dance Of Pottstown High School at Sunnybrook

Eight members of the 1898 class of the Pottstown High school last night attended the 63rd anniversary of the High School Alumni association when they met for their annual get-together dance in the Sunnybrook ballroom.

Twenty members had received their diplomas on a June night fifty years ago and of that number 10 are deceased and two could not be present to attend. Members who received rosebuds in honor of 50th anniversary of their graduation were: Mrs. Jesse R. Evans, Mrs. Jennie Garber Fisher, Mrs. Clara Luggett Shenton, Miss Nellie Mertz, Mr. Holland Merrick, Mrs. Lucy Samsaman Weidner, Mrs. Leonard Leaf and Mr. George Baer.

Plans had been made to honor the graduates of the class of 1888 of which there were five. However none of the three surviving members, Miss Margaret Dyer, Miss Elizabeth Newlin and Mr. Harry Conrad, could manage to be present.

MISS DOROTHY BARKEL, president of the association, welcomed the graduates of the class of 1948, of which 125 attended from the 246 who received their diplomas Thursday night. Miss Daisy Goodyear responded to the welcome in the name of the graduates, pledging for her classmates to bring honor and service to the group.

The W. W. Rupert prize was presented to Miss Catherine Elliot, member of the 1948 class.

An air mail letter was read from Myron B. Himes, president of the association in 1924-43 in which he expressed his regrets that he could not attend, as he is in Tucson, Arizona for his health.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by the 1943 class with a pantomime, "The Lamp Went Out" with the following participating: Mrs. Kathryn, Nester Penny-packer, Paula Krause, Angeline Bonner, Robert McDevitt, Douglass Weave, with sound effects by Mr. Darius Lightcap and vocalist, Mrs. Robert Pike. The production was directed by Mr. Gene Pennypacker. Later a professional show of acrobatics was given by the Spartans.

THE 1943 CLASS presented Mr. H. L. Smith, principal of the High school, a plaque containing the names of the 63 members of graduating classes who paid the supreme sacrifice abroad.

During the business session it was announced that a complete file of the 8000 graduates of the school had been compiled with all names, addresses, the course of study pursued and the history of the individual has been placed in the principal's office and is available to anyone needing information.

Following the meeting and program over 1000 danced to music from the orchestra of Alex Bartha until 1 o'clock this morning.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S

Advice to the Lovelorn Don't Take This Boy So Seriously

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
About six months ago my boy friend broke up with me. It was quite sudden and he gave no reason. I was quite serious about him and felt very bad.

After a while I started going with other fellows and was beginning to forget him. But last week he called me on the phone and asked me to go to our Senior Prom at school with him. I told him to call again in a week or two and then I would give him an answer.

I don't see why he should call now after all this time. Should I accept?

Pottstown PATSY

Dear Patsy:
The reason this boy has called you again "after all this time" is no doubt because he likes you and wants to be your friend. Why not just take him on that basis and avoid getting so serious about your relationship that you think you must either be his one and only girl, or else not go out with him at all. You boys and girls cheat yourselves out of a lot of fun when you put your friendships with each other on an "all or nothing" basis. By all means go to the Prom and have a good time, but don't think the invitation necessarily means that this boy wants you for his steady girl.

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I love the man. I'm going to marry him. But he wants me to get up at 5:30 after we are married.

ERTMAN SISTERS—Those three sweet little singing ladies from the Doylestown radio station, who sing in close harmony and do such a fine job of singing those western numbers in trios and duets. Very well appreciated every place they appear.

I was going with, I have become a man-hater, and have formed a strong attachment for one of my teachers. I cannot get her out of my head or heart. I will be graduating from high school soon and will be quite a distance from her. I wonder how I should correspond with her and wonder how I should tell her about it. Should I just tell her so and ask if it would be all right with her. Or do you have any other suggestion?

Pottstown BAIS

Dear Miss Fairfax:
Your case is not by any means as "unusual" as you think. On the contrary, it very frequently happens that girls in school develop a great affection for one of their teachers which is commonly known as a "crush." I'm sure you've heard the word but you probably don't like to think that is what you have.

The suggestion I have is that you try not to take it so seriously, because it is certain to pass off after you have graduated. If you want to correspond with this teacher, by all means tell her so. But my prediction is that you will lose all interest in her in a very short time.

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am a girl nearly 13, and I feel and massage his back with a hand vibrator until he gets up at 6. We've agreed to abide by your decision. Stowe R B

Dear R B:
Well anything for a laugh! I've been asked a good many fantastic questions but this one probably takes the prize in that class.

Why don't you tell your boy friend that you will agree to massage his back from 5:30 to 6 if he will get up at 5 and brush your hair until 5:30? Turn about is only fair play. Of course you don't mean me to take this seriously anyhow. Or do you? Won't you be a sport and write and tell me if you aren't just trying to have a little fun with me? I'm curious to know if any young man would really make such an astonishing request of his bride.

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I realize mine is an unusual case and you will probably think I am silly, but to me it is a real problem.

This will be my first date, and probably my last one till I am 17, as I am not allowed to go out on dates and can only do it now because it is my graduation.

When my date takes me home, should I let him kiss me goodnight? He is quite a little older than I.

Royersford LORETTA

Dear Loretta:
If this is to be your only date from now until you are 17, I don't think I would worry much about whether or not this boy kisses you good-night. If he wants you to kiss him, and you feel like giving him this kind of friendly good-night, make it a quick one and go on in the house. But don't go in for any good-night petting. I can't believe the kiss will make much difference, if it is to be three years before you have a chance for another.

of 261 passengers and crew members who survived. Many were seriously wounded and others were suffering from exposure. Some of those rescued died before they could be brought ashore.

The number of dead originally was estimated at 150. Later company officials said they feared the toll actually was much higher. It was believed the total number aboard was closer to 450 than the 400 reported at first. A dozen crew members were among the missing.

The only complete passenger list was aboard the Kjøbenhavn, and company officials are trying to reconstruct it. Many of the passengers did not book passage at Copenhagen until after they came aboard. This complicated the check of the missing.

They, Julian W. Barnard, Norristown, they notified Wells they would fight the case in court if construction continued. They proposed to fight any effort Mrs. Williamson may make to develop "any building construction or use of this land contrary to the regulations under which it is zoned."

Wells, however, has pointed out that the building permit for the proposed building was issued 24 days before the effective date of the zoning ordinance and therefore is not affected by the law.

In the bill filed yesterday, the court was asked to take jurisdiction in the case until it finally is settled; to enjoin the defendants from prohibiting or preventing the construction of the building; and to declare Kepner's action to terminate the building permit illegal, unauthorized, null and void, and of no effect.

that the cost per year, per person would run from $10 to $18.

She indicated, however, that the cost squabble would be resolved if the blood test is dropped.

"Most of the cost of the exam is in the blood test," she claimed.

ALTHOUGH THE board has only recommended Dr. Wennersten as a possible choice, the restaurateur has tentatively picked another physician whose rate is lower, Mrs. Conrad said. She declined to give his name or price.

At a later date, she said, the eatery owners may charge the food handlers who work for them only 50 cents for each examination and make up the remainder of the cost themselves.

"That way, it will be an incentive to others to join the association," she added.

The chief basis for objection to the blood test is the cost, Wells and Mrs. Conrad agreed, although the association chief mentioned "fear of the needle" as being a contributing factor.

WELLS WILL COME to next week's meeting armed with Statewide precedents against the local legislation, he said.

He declared that Pottstown is now the sole community in Pennsylvania with a required blood test and the cost of the check-up is twice that of any other town or borough in the state.

The source of his information, he said, is the Pennsylvania Health board and the Pennsylvania Restaurant association.

When the board put the blood test clause into the ordinance which was adopted May 10, the measure was intended as a check on venereal disease.

Wells asserted that doctors have told him that transmission of venereal disease from the food handler to the restaurant customer via food is virtually impossible.

"They told me it doesn't matter whether a man has a venereal disease or not as far as the contagion in that manner goes," the attorney related.

Almost half a year ago the board urged restaurant leaders to band together to help clean up their places and the group finally organized a little more than a month ago. Their first official act has been request of the repeal of the blood test.

The group numbers more than 50 members.

laceration of the scalp, possible fractured skull and multiple bruises.

Dann, driver of the car, was traveling south on the pike. At a point one-quarter mile south of the Fruitville hotel, the sedan went out of control. It hit the guard rail, ripping the hood, and embedding the wire from the rail in the grille of the car.

THE CAR THEN struck the concrete abutment across a tiny creek, bounced down the two-lane highway and then struck the guard rail again at a 45-degree angle.

Three men were in the car, but the other two escaped serious injury. The car was wrecked.

State police of the Collegeville sub-station were investigating early this morning.

ing his regime; a union demand for an 18 1/2 cent increase which resulted in a five-week walkout in 1946; a demand for a 15 1/2-cent raise which was settled the following year through negotiation, and a two-month strike in 1945 over "super-seniority" for veterans.

UNTIL HIS HEART ATTACK, he was leading the union's negotiations with the Spicer firm.

Left-wing in his political viewpoint, Diener had switched his registration from Socialist to Democrat in 1932 when Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected.

The past winter, Mr. Diener left the Democratic party, coming out in support of Henry A. Wallace's candidacy. At a meeting of pro-Wallace labor men in Pottstown the past Feb. 26 he was named a vice chairman of the pro-Wallace faction.

Although he was opposed on some issues by other borough labor leaders, his death evoked tributes from them. A typical one was made by J. Alfred Marquet, president of Local 2177, United Steelworkers (CIO), who had fought Diener's position on the PAC's refusal to endorse Wallace.

Marquet declared:

"Harper Diener was one of the early men in the trade union movement in Pottstown, and he did it a world of good."

"I hope you younger men can set as fine a pattern. All the men in my local will feel his loss very keenly, especially those who worked closely with him."

MR. DIENER WAS born in Pottstown. As a young man, he began his lifelong interest in the labor movement. His family expressed the opinion that his sudden attack was the result of his day-in, day-out work for the union and for liberal movements.

He soon affiliated himself with the most militant elements in the labor movement. The International Workers of the World was the first group he joined, and he would tell anecdotes about his marching with IWW members at demonstrations in Pittsburgh.

Next he joined an AFL group in Royersford, the Iron Moulders. Leaving the Pottstown area, he went to the anthracite regions in the 1920's where he was active with the United Mine Workers.

He became a member of the old Socialist party when Eugene V. Debs was the national leader and James Maurer, the leader of this section.

The Socialist party met in the Labor Lyceum on South Charlotte street in those days, and this same building served as the headquarters for the independent Spicer's union.

IN 1931, HE moved to his home atop Rattlesnake Hill, in the Douglassville RD 1 portion of that section.

His chief leisure-time activities were reading—books on labor history and politics—and fishing trips with his family for carp in the George river in Maryland.

His other free time was devoted to union work. He was a frequent delegate to State and county CIO groups, and had not missed a national CIO convention in five years.

He also was a director of the Montgomery-Chester county CIO council, which he helped form.

His non-union affiliations included Pottstown Nest 150, Fraternal Order of Orioles.

Surviving are his wife, the former Minnie Undergoode, and his mother, Mrs. Mary J. Hartline, 565 Lincoln avenue; three sons, Robert B., 390 Spruce street, and Augustus and Harper Jr., at home, and a stepson, Charles Davis, at home.

Also surviving are three brothers, Charles H., 565 Lincoln avenue rear; Robert R., 28 North Washington street, and Stanley A., of Port Providence.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street. Officiating will be the Rev. Charles V. Kachel, pastor of Salem Evangelical United Brethren church.

Interment will be made in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Autoworkers' 7th Inning Rally Ties All-Stars by 5-5 Score

2 TEAMS HOLD POSITIONS ATOP LOOP STANDINGS

Four Base Hits, Two Errors Give UAW Three Runs in Bottom Half of Last Frame

STANDINGS	W. L. Pct.	W. L. Pct.
All-Stars	4 1 .800	Flagg's 3 3 .500
UAW	3 1 .750	Quitt C 2 3 .400
Coffee Cup	4 2 .667	Amvets 1 4 .200
Dodgers	4 2 .667	URW 0 5 .000

Four base hits wrapped around two errors in the bottom half of the seventh inning gave UAW a 5-5 tie with the Colored All-Stars last night and enabled the Autoworkers to maintain their hold on second place in the City-Industrial league standings.

The throng of 350 fans was starting to leave the stands at Franklin Field when the Autoworkers came to bat in the bottom of the seventh trailing by three runs.

When Curly Ricketts, second pitcher for the All-Stars, fanned Bob Stauffer, it looked as though the game was just about finished. John Shaner, however, started the fireworks with a triple down the left field foul line and the Autoworkers didn't stop until three runs crossed the plate.

NORM SUNDRUM, pinch-hit for pitcher Henry Rogosky and slapped a little grounder to the right of the mound. Second baseman Carl Corum fumbled the ball but tossed to third to get Shaner in a rundown. When Jim Howard dropped the ball, Shaner slid across the plate and Sundrum moved to second.

Bobby Fillman followed with his third hit of the evening, a looping double into right field, but it wasn't enough to score Sundrum, who held third. Renninger was sent in to pinch-hit for Jack Fout, and he delivered with a single past first baseman George Dodder to score Sundrum and Fillman with the tying runs.

Stan Waycock followed with an infield hit to keep the rally moving, but Ricketts bore down and retired Johnny Snyder and George Waycock in order to end the inning. Umpire-in-chief Will Stevens then halted the game because of darkness.

"JAYBIRD" WHITEHURST started on the mound for the All-Stars, but left the game in the third inning in favor of Ricketts after the Autoworkers tied the score at 2-2.

Henry Rogosky went the distance for the Autoworkers. He was moving along with a four-hitter until the All-Stars broke loose with three runs in the sixth for a 5-2 lead.

Ray "Pidgie" Kepner, UAW manager, was ejected from the game by Umpire Bill Euston after engaging in a hot argument over a play on Jimmy Howard at third base in the sixth.

The tie enabled the All-Stars to stay in first place and also enabled the Autoworkers to keep their hold on second place in the standings.

Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
Major Have An Edge

PLAYERS of pretty fair ability — the overwhelming majority of them — seem never to know the difference between major and minor suit — lengths as reasons for opening or not opening the bidding. They have learned that a certain amount of honor strength is one requirement of a sound opening bid, and that the length of suits is another. But when a hand is right on the borderline between an opening bid and a pass, the question of major versus minor becomes paramount. Often the side with a preponderance of major suit cards can take the same number of tricks in its best declaration as its opponents can in their best. When that is the case, the minor suit holders are obliged to overbid a level and take a one-trick beating in order to capture the contract.

That bidding is not recommended. It is thoroughly unsound. But it does illustrate clearly the difference between majors and minors as desirable material for opening the bidding.

South has an irreducible minimum with his four-card suits and his three honor tricks. He should therefore have consulted the factor of majors versus minors and thus resolved his problem in favor of a pass. But he didn't.

South was unable to take the contract away from his opponents except by bidding one level higher than they, which also happened to be one level higher than he could make. He lost two in spades, two in hearts and one in diamonds, and was set one.

You will notice, upon study of the situation, that West could have made the last contract for which he bid, 2-Hearts. He would have lost only five tricks by natural play, one in spades, two in diamonds and two in clubs.

Your Weekend Question
When is the rebid of a suit a sign-off? When is it not a sign-off?

A play, "Doctor, Come Quick!", was given by Logan Shanahan, Wayne Gabel and Miss Evelyn Welsh.

A flower show will be a feature of the next meeting of the grange. The Women's society for Christian Service of the Bethel Methodist church met recently at the church with Miss Mabel Zellers, presiding. A study of temperance was conducted with Mrs. George Mohler in charge, assisted by Mrs. Lulu Somics and Mrs. George Crosland. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. R. Fenton Duvall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Hicks, Misses Jane and Barbara Jean Hicks, visited Mrs. Hicks' brother, Ellsworth Downing and family near Berwyn, recently. Obituaries

HARVEY UNRUH, 70, owner of a truck farm south of Kenilworth for the past 25 years, died late Thursday night at his POTTSTOWN RD 2 home after a six-months illness.

Born and raised near Germantown when that section was farmland. Instead of thickly-populated suburbs, Mr. Unruh worked on farms his entire life.

For the past 20 years he had a stall at the Pottstown Farmers' market and regularly sold his produce there. He worked his small farm by himself.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Halley, 341 Cherry street; a brother, Walter Unruh, Cedars, and four grandchildren.

He will be buried in Riverside cemetery, Norristown, after funeral service Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 404 High street.

MRS. ROBERT D. EVANS, 52, of TROOPER, who died at her home Thursday afternoon after a long illness, will be buried at St. James Reformed church cemetery, Limerick, following funeral services in Norristown at 11 a. m. today.

She was the wife of the former president of the old Chadwick Engineering works, which once occupied the site of the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation. Evans was president of the plan approximately 30 years ago.

In addition, her son, Robert B., was a football star at The Hill school in 1940 and 1941. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania the past February.

Mrs. Evans also is survived by two daughters, Helen, a senior at Syracuse university, and Mary Ann, completing her sophomore year at Norristown High school.

MRS. MAGGIE D. COPE, of SALFORD, who was a patient at Allentown hospital for about a week and who was bedfast for quite a few months, died Thursday morning.

She is survived by a son, Clarence, with whom she lived, and two grandchildren; also one sister, Mrs. Harvey Ziegler, of Souderton, and a brother, Raymond Sautter, of Zieglerville.

The funeral will be held from a funeral home at Harleysville on Monday at 2 p. m. Interment at the Old Goshenhoppen cemetery.

Funeral services for MRS. MARY ELA (JEFFERIS) MILLER, 85, BETHLEHEM, former Pottstown resident, were held yesterday afternoon from a funeral home in Norristown. Interment was made in Malvern Baptist cemetery.

Mrs. Miller spent most of her younger life in Pottstown, living for many years at 375 Chestnut street with the family of Charles Brooke, former burgess of Pottstown.

Seventeen years ago she moved to Bethlehem.

Hillcrest Water Hole Still a Danger Spot

Jean (left) and Carol Hunsberger, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan M. Hunsberger, of 663 Hawthorne avenue, come dangerously near tumbling into the water hole on North Keim street, still a menace more than three weeks after Hill school authorities promised to fill it in "as soon as possible." Hillcrest residents said that not more than three truckloads of dirt were dumped into the hole, moving it further away from the pavement. But that doesn't stop active youngsters from clambering around the hole, still with a foot of water in it.

Mouse in Seismograph Causes Heavy 'Quake'
MIAMI, Fla., June 11 (AP) — A mouse labored and brought forth an earthquake.

At least, that was the Navy's explanation today for the 90 violent minutes of earth tremors recorded on its micro-seismograph at the vault in nearby Richmond.

The Navy's physicists had been puzzled by the fact that no other seismograph registered a similar upheaval. Experts said it was possible a mouse invaded Richmond's seismograph vault and shook things up a bit.
